LOGO GUIDE

Last updated 6.5.2025

Letter from the Chancellor

September 15, 2024

Every member of the San Diego Community College District community plays an important role representing our organization. Consistent use of the District's visual identity system helps the District ensure our communications are clear and effective.

This guide is intended to assist employees with use of our beautiful new logos, "Be. Belong. Become." tagline, and other elements of our new branding. Also included are templates and helpful examples.

We sincerely appreciate each of you who participated in the District-College Branding Project, which included surveys, focus groups, and numerous presentations during the 2023-24 academic year. Based on the results of this process, on May 16, 2024, the Board of Trustees officially adopted the new visual identity system.

The new sunburst logo design is inspired by the radiating energy of the sun. It serves as a beacon of inspiration, unity, positivity, and growth across the District and Colleges—which are themselves reflected in the colors of the rays. The dynamic design reflects the ever-evolving nature of education, as well as the District's dedication to fostering a welcoming environment where every individual knows they can succeed.

Along with the new logos, the new "Be. Belong. Become." tagline is intended to signal to students and the community that the District and Colleges are more committed than ever to helping them achieve their educational goals.

Introduction of the new branding will take place throughout the 2024-25 academic year and beyond. You are strongly encouraged to use up existing materials, before submitting orders for new items.

Thank you for supporting our collective efforts by becoming familiar with our new brand guidelines. If you have questions or need assistance, please visit sdccd.edu/brand or contact SDCCD Marketing, Communications & Public Affairs Department at cpr@sdccd.edu.

A handwritten signature in black ink that reads "Gregory Smith". The signature is fluid and cursive, with the first letters of the first and last names being capitalized and prominent.

Gregory Smith,
Chancellor

District Logos

2.1

Logomark

A logomark symbol serves as the main element of a logo. It is a unique visual mark that is eye-catching and storytelling to establish the brand identity and recognition.

The new logomark of the San Diego Community College District aims to strengthen the connection between the District and Colleges.

Inspired by the radiant energy of a sunburst, the symbol successfully represents diversity and shows its relation to San Diego's sunshine and coastal region.

While the new cyan represents the District as a strong foundation, the four colors of the rays create a balance of each College using their individual color.

With its simplicity and optimistic imagery, this dynamic design reflects the ever-evolving nature of education and SDCCD's dedication to fostering a welcoming learning environment where every individual knows they can succeed.

SYMBOL

Wordmark

A wordmark is the typographical element in a logo. It shows the name of the brand, and supports the logomark symbol to strengthen the brand recognition.

The wordmark should not be used alone, separated from the logomark. Provided logo files should be utilized without any unapproved alteration.

For detailed logo usage guidelines, please refer to pages 25-26.

The typeface used in the wordmarks is Optima, which was previously used for the college logos before the re-branding.

While keeping the legacy of the typeface, the type treatment was revised to make the wordmark more modern and legible.

Tagline

The tagline for San Diego Community College District is Be. Belong. Become.

The tagline supports SDCCD's established brand strategy and positioning, while creating a lasting impression of the brand values.

The two composition layouts of San Diego Community College District's tagline are shown on this page.

The horizontal and vertical tagline files can be used for various applications, by selecting either version while referring to the ratio of the space it is being placed on.

In cases that the tagline should be shown adjacent to the logomark, only use approved District-Tagline logo files that are supplied in the logo inventory.

The horizontal tagline and vertical tagline are provided in the inventory. The artwork files can be used when placing the tagline alone, for consistent visual display of the tagline. The files will be provided in District cyan color, as well as black and white versions.

Do not manually combine the tagline with the logomark or other logo variations.

HORIZONTAL TAGLINE

2.18

Logo Treatments

Logo usage shown on this page introduces some ways the logo can be utilized.

Full color treatment on white background should be used most frequently for all logos, whenever possible.

One color treatment works well to emphasize the clarity of the positive space and negative space of the logo, when shown in black and white mode.

Knockout treatment of the logos can help distinguish the mark from a background color.

The alternate version of District logos are not available for the generic public, and can be used only under approval. White fill and a white border is added to the logomark, to distinguish the colors from dark backgrounds.

The thickness of the white border should not be altered. Refer to the next page for further logo guidelines.

For questions regarding logo usage or approvals, please contact the Marketing, Communications & Public Affairs Department at 619-388-6941 or email mcpa@sdccd.edu.

Incorrect Logo Usage

In order to maintain a strong brand identity and consistency, the following alterations to the logos should be avoided at all times.

These rules apply to all the logo options.

DO NOT stretch the logo in any direction.

DO NOT add any effect, such as drop shadow, to the logo.

DO NOT use any unapproved color for any parts of the logo.

DO NOT rotate the logo in any angle.

DO NOT decrease the opacity of the logo.

DO NOT visually busy or detailed photography as a background for the logo.

DO NOT crop the logo to any extent.

DO NOT alter the wordmark in any way, including typeface, size, and others.

DO NOT alter the orientation of the logo.

Chancellor's Seal

3.1

Chancellor's Seal Overview

The seal should only be used with approval, for official material.

The controlled usage of the seal will signify the authority of official documents associated with the District. Examples may include diplomas, certificates, transcripts and more.

To request usage of the Chancellor's Seal, please contact the Marketing, Communications & Public Affairs Department at 619-388-6941 or email mcpa@sdccd.edu.

When the height of the Chancellor's seal is X, $\frac{1}{4}$ of X is used to create the clear space around the mark. This should consider both vertical and horizontal directions from the entire seal. Nothing should be placed in the clear space.

MINIMUM SIZE

Minimum width of the primary Chancellor's seal should be at least 1 inches. There is no maximum size restriction for the logo.

3.3 Chancellor's Seal Usage

With the approval from the District, the seal can be used on official documents such as diplomas, certificates, transcripts and other authorized material.

The full color version of the Chancellor's Seal should be used whenever multi-color printing or display is available.

The Chancellor's Seal can be printed on simple surfaces such as a paper, or shown on digital screens. Refer to the next page for further detailed guidance for seal usage.

3.4

One Color Seal Usage

One color seal files can be used when color printing is not available.

Some instances might be black and white printing on paper. The opacity of the seal may be adjusted to suit the appropriate purpose. The opacity should not be lower than 50%.

The alternate version of the seal introduces a white fill and a border around the mark to distinguish the logo's colors from dark backgrounds.

The thickness of the white border should not be altered.

The seal for production is adjusted from the primary seal in order to accommodate better legibility, when printed on textured surfaces and various material such as suede and metal.

To request usage of the Chancellor's Seal, please contact the Marketing, Communications & Public Affairs Department at 619-388-6941 or email mcpa@sdccd.edu.

Color Palette

San Diego Community College District's color palette shown on this page is crucial to the brand identity and visual storytelling of the SDCCD.

The primary color is District Cyan. This color should be used predominantly on any branded design material for the District.

The secondary colors are the supporting colors for the District. The secondary colors should be used to complement the District Cyan. The Light Cyan can be used for a subtle effect, white the District Orange and District Green can be used as accent colors. White, black and gray can be used as neutral colors.

The College colors represent each of the four Colleges. While keeping the legacy of the previous color palette, the college colors are revised for an enhanced viewing experience, and offers improved accessibility measures in digital and print.

The colors of the logo elements should not be altered manually, and should utilize the final logo files as they are provided.

For printed material, PMS or CMYK values should be utilized. For any digital jobs, use RGB values or Hex codes.

A blurred, high-angle photograph of a modern building interior. In the center, a white bust of a man is placed on a wooden ledge. To the right, a staircase with wooden steps and metal railings is visible. The background shows other levels of the building with glass railings and structural elements. The overall image is faded and serves as a background for the title.

Typeface Usage

Optima is the primary typeface used in the wordmark of the logo. Optima can be used to emphasize important content.

URW DIN is the secondary typeface. As a supporting typeface, it is a clear and legible sans-serif that does not compete with the primary typeface, Optima. URW DIN should be used for any display or text purposes.

Arial is the tertiary typeface. When URW DIN is unavailable, this typeface can be used as a replacement on various programs and platforms in place of URW DIN.

6.2 Type In Use

Provided is the typographic hierarchy that can be a standard example across various media and allow messaging to be clear and consistent legibility as well as delivery.

Optima can be used for titles, headings and headlines, for better emphasis and visual hierarchy.

URW DIN should be used for general content. For sub-headings, the typeface weight of URW DIN can be set to bold.

Optima medium is the logo typeface.
This typeface can be used for emphasis.

URW DIN is the secondary typeface, as a clear and legible sans-serif that does not compete with the main logo typeface.

Email Signature

Consistent usage of email signatures gives an opportunity to further strengthen the brand alignment while displaying relevant content and contact information.

In addition, cohesive email signatures can help present a professional appearance when conducting business through email.

The typography layout is explained on this page. Arial is used, as it is the tertiary typeface that should be used on widely used softwares.

While the typography layout should remain the same, e-signature users may select one of the horizontal logos from the District logo inventory. Vertical logos should not be used.

In example 1, the primary horizontal District logo is used. In example 2, the horizontal District-Tagline substitute logo is used.

The logo should always be left aligned with the text below.

A template is available for customization of personal e-signature, along with instructions on how to add them to your email signature, are available at sdccd.edu/brand.

Email Signature Usage Guide

The chosen horizontal logo should always be placed at the top. When adding additional image files such as various badges, the general template of the email signature should remain the same.

The badge image files should be added at the bottom of the email signature, without altering the typography layout.

The text section serves as a divider between the District logo and other image files.

For clear hierarchy, badge images should not exceed the height of the San Diego Community College District Logomark at the top of email signature.

Inventory Guide

The logo charts in this section explain the suite of logos that exist in the San Diego Community College District's logo inventory. They can be used on their own, or may be used in approved combinations (refer to section 4, Sub-brands).

The logos have been exported into various file types to suit different purposes, such as digital, print, and applications. Only use approved artwork files.

Full color option is the primary color version, and should be used predominantly. Black and white version logos can be used when appropriate, following the logo treatment directions (refer to section 2.18, Logo Treatments).

The Chancellor's Seal or alternate version of District Logos for production must request and receive approval prior to usage.

The .svg, .eps and .pdf files are vector-based. They should be used most often as these file types can be enlarged or reduced without diminishing image quality.

The .jpg and .png files are pixel based. These files should only be used when .svg, .eps or .pdf files are not applicable.

To request usage of files that need approval, such as the Chancellor's Seal or the alternate version of the District Logos for production, contact the Marketing, Communications & Public Affairs at 619-388-6941 or email cpr@sdccd.edu.
