

What is Work-Based Learning?

SAN DIEGO
Community College District

Work-Based Learning opportunities are integrated into curricula and provided outside the classroom from events and on-campus activities to clinical placements, internships, and on-the-job activities.

WBL Data Dashboard

Strengths

18,306

Headcount

Participation has doubled.

Demographic Representation

Good representation across student groups.

5%

Higher for WBL students

Completion & Success rates are higher vs. Non-WBL.

WBL Data Dashboard

Areas of Improvement

City College

Missing WBL activities in Exercise Science courses; opportunity to collaborate with Exercise Science faculty at other campuses.

Miramar College

Missing WBL activities in the Arts; City has integrated WBL activities into Photography courses, Mesa has WBL activities in Dance and Fine Arts. Opportunity to collaborate.

Mesa College

Underrepresentation of Under 18 students compared to total enrollments (5.5% of WBL students vs. 11% of total headcount are under 18). Opportunity for outreach.

WBL Data Dashboard

Something you might not know...

25% of WBL students are First Generation.